To Whom it May Concern at Cheney Brothers,

I would just like to tell you about one of your salesmen, Reid Jones. Not only did he help me shovel sand off my property after the first hurricane, but he also helped me dispose of enormous roofing debris after the second hurricane. He was the only person in the food industry (and I normally use SYSCO, Food Supply and Direct Seafood) that came by routinely to check on my progress of rebuilding my restaurant and livelihood. He always asked about the welfare of my family and what else he could do to assist us.

Recently my CBI driver (Ozzie) was held up at NASA for over four hours. Ozzie was in route to my restaurant after 6:00 p.m. on Friday, April 1st. As soon as the truck arrived Reid called telling me that he would be there ASAP, even though he was almost 20 miles away, to not only check in my order, but also would stock the order for me, considering it was Friday night prime dinner hour. I have 14 tables in my restaurant all full, with other diners waiting to be seated. On top of that I am the only Chef and I have no food prep man, so it was God sent that Reid was able to help me that night.

If this is a representation of the Cheney Brothers sales force then I thank God that you hire people like Reid to take such personal care of small business owners like me. I really appreciate the loyalty Reid has demonstrated and I look forward to continued business with him and Cheney Brothers.

Sincerely,
