Inventory Management

Pulp's new Restaurant Inventory Management Software makes it easier than ever for chefs and general managers to take their restaurant's inventory every time they order, instead of having to conduct one large inventory process at the end of each month or quarter. Pulp digitizes your restaurant's inventory so it's logged, saved and stored in one place and one consistent format.

Ordering

Pulp makes it easier than ever to order directly from Cheney Brothers. Chefs, owners and managers search Cheney Brothers' catalogs and add items to an order directly from their phones or computers. Plus, with Pulp, re-ordering is easy as well. Since most restaurants have a set list of times that they purchase once a week, or even several times a week, our technology allows restaurants to cut down their time and simply re-load a past order.

Accounting/Receiving

Pulp helps make all of your business processes a breeze, including your accounting and receiving tasks. Pulp's accounting software for restaurants integrates with your existing restaurant accounting software applications like Quickbooks, CTUIT, Restaurant365 and more. With one click, restaurant managers can receive products and send data to their accountant or bookkeeper in the format they need. Our inventory and receiving features together create a comprehensive picture of every single item that your restaurant purchases from the time of a Purchase Order, through the receiving process, storage process, and even usage.
